NOTE.—With the single exception of the 10th Regiment, this command has suffered more than any other sent out by North Carolina, by reason of the failure in the officers to make proper reports. The residences of the men of some whole companies are omitted, and no reference made even to the capture of seven companies at the fall of Fort Hatteras August 28th, '61. The 17th Regiment gave valiant and bloody service, and it is lamentable that such incomplete returns were made.

NOTE.—This roll was sent with the others of the same command and was marked Company A. This was evidently a mistake, as that company was given in another roll which corresponds with the record in the Roll of Honor. The companies of this regiment were designated in a curious way and so reversed all military rules that I supposed this must have been the missing roll of Company C, and so have inserted it. It will be observed that it is a very imperfect record, and does not even give the name of the Captain.

There are not only no Field and Staff returns in my reach, but as is often the case in the Roll of Honor, the casualties and promotions of the line officers are all referred to the "Register of Officers," whereas no register was ever made.

NOTE.—After the full and noble record of the 26th Regiment, it is distressing to find that the 27th has but three of its companies reported on the pages of the "Roll of Honor," and in these not a promotion among the original officers or a casualty of the enlisted men is therein given. The last seven companies could only be had at Washington from the captured field returns, and these fail to give a large portion of the enlisted men. In this way, this Regiment, which gave such efficient service, suffers sadly in the matter of its history. In the single battle of Sharpsburg, two hundred and three of the three hundred and twenty-five men engaged, were killed and wounded; but, alas, I can find no record to show the particulars. The Regiment was, of course, much larger than appears in this roster, for only the companies A, B and C are at all full in the names given, and, as the reader will perceive, even Major Foote was unable to report their promotions and casualties.

NOTE—This Regiment constituted a portion of the garrison captured at Fort Fisher on January 15th, 1865. Of the five hundred Confederate troops killed and wounded during that memorable seige, a large proportion belonged to the 36th Regiment. General Whiting, who was present and captured on that occasion was so wounded that he died in a few weeks thereafter. Colonel Lamb was also very painfully and dangerously wounded, and was utterly unable to make a report of the casualties of the seige. In this way I have been unable to give the names of men of this regiment that were among the dead and wounded.
